

Waterco Public release of Advance Update

Updated 02.04.2020

In line with Waterco's ongoing support of our customers, our team, and the industry, we are proudly releasing major changes to the Waterco Advance learning platform.

Why now? In this time of self-isolation and social distancing, we at Waterco understand that eventually business and our industry will return to normal. When it does, we want to have used this opportunity to enhance knowledge in the industry, and contribute to an expeditious return to business as usual.

A collage of course cards from the Waterco Advance learning platform. The cards include:

- Pumps - Residential: "Waterco customers expect a high level of knowledge on value based products including our energy saving residential pumps. Improve your knowledge here. Time: 1:10" with a "Start" button.
- Hydraulics: "Your understanding of basic hydraulics forms the foundation of your ability to understand all products. Time: 5:35" with a "Completed" status bar.
- Controllers: "Develop your knowledge of Waterco controllers and automation to provide top notch service to our customers. Time: 3:30" with a "Resume" button.
- Chemicals: "Waterco's comprehensive range of chemicals keeps your customer's pool and spa crystal clear with high quality, fast acting products that protect their investment from the elements. Time: 11:50" with a "Resume" button.

The background features a large blue curved graphic element.

Programs aligned to key industry
applications

This release includes new courses and programs, along with updates to some pre-existing materials. The release also includes alignment of all courses into functional programs which are easily accessible for all learners.

This valid and reliable resource is not limited to use only by Waterco staff. We proudly offer access to Waterco Advance to many other users within the industry as a way of both learning about our products, and providing important information to our partners across the industry.

If you are a builder, independent shop, or otherwise interested in the pool industry and wish to increase your knowledge through Waterco Advance, please contact your local Waterco representative for a confidential discussion about accessing the platform.

Thank you for your continued support.

Robert Castleberry

Product Training Manager